HOW TO USE THIS WORKBOOK

Use this to collect clues, not to prove one cause. Some attacks may not have an obvious pattern.

Fill in the pages that match your life. Write "unknown" or "not sure" when exact details are hard.

Review several entries together before drawing conclusions. Multiple small factors may stack together.

Bring the pattern review page to your healthcare provider if it helps the conversation.

THIS IS NOT ABOUT BLAME

Possible context I want to understand without blaming myself:

What I hope this workbook helps me explain:

QUICK START

☐ Track attacks

☐ Track possible context

☐ Review patterns

☐ Mark no clear pattern

☐ Write questions

☐ Discuss with provider

BEFORE I START

What I already suspect may be part of my pattern:

What I want to stop guessing about:

This printable is a personal tracking and organization tool. It is not medical advice, diagnosis, or treatment. Always talk with a qualified healthcare professional about symptoms, medications, or care decisions. This workbook cannot prove what caused an attack or tell you what changes to make.

POSSIBLE CONTEXT OVERVIEW

Use these categories as prompts. A possible trigger might also be an early migraine clue, and some patterns may stay unclear.

Tracking period:

Updated on:

Most useful category so far:

No clear pattern notes:

CONTEXT CATEGORIES

- ☐ Sleep
- ☐ Hydration
- ☐ Stress
- ☐ Smells/sounds
- ☐ Schedule
- ☐ Caffeine
- ☐ Letdown
- ☐ Weather/environment
- ☐ Meals
- ☐ Alcohol
- ☐ Bright light/screens
- ☐ Cycle/body context

CONTEXT, POSSIBLE TRIGGER, OR EARLY MIGRAINE CLUE?

Context I noticed around attacks:

Things that may happen before migraine starts:

Things I cannot control or avoid:

USEFUL UNCERTAINTY

Patterns I am unsure about:

Things that did not match attacks as clearly as I expected:

CATEGORY NOTES TO COMPARE LATER

Categories I want to watch for a few entries before deciding whether they matter:

Categories that may be unavoidable but still useful to document:

NOTES TO BRING FORWARD

Category I want to pay attention to next:

What would make this easier to track:

MIGRAINE ATTACK LOG

Record one attack or migraine day. Keep it brief if symptoms make writing difficult.

Date:

Day:

Start time:

End time:

Duration:

Pain intensity 0-10:

SYMPTOMS AND PHASE CLUES

☐ Prodrome

☐ Aura

☐ Headache

☐ Postdrome

☐ Nausea

☐ Vomiting

☐ Light sensitivity

☐ Sound sensitivity

☐ Smell sensitivity

☐ Brain fog

☐ Dizziness/vertigo

☐ Migraine hangover

Aura, neurological symptoms, or what felt different:

WHAT WAS HAPPENING AROUND THIS ATTACK?

Sleep, schedule, meals, hydration, caffeine, alcohol:

Stress, letdown, sensory exposure, weather, cycle/body context:

SUPPORT, RELIEF, AND IMPACT

Medication/support used and when:

Relief level or notes:

Work, school, caregiving, plans, or daily tasks affected:

AFTER THE ATTACK

Migraine hangover, recovery time, or next-day effects:

What I want to remember for pattern review:

COMPARE WITH OTHER ATTACKS

What was similar to past attacks:

What was different this time:

Record what happened. Do not change medications, diet, or care decisions based on this page alone.

SLEEP & SCHEDULE LOG

Track sleep and schedule context without assuming it caused an attack.

Date range:

Usual schedule:

Most disrupted day:

Attack days in this period:

SLEEP AND SCHEDULE NOTES

DATE	BED / WAKE	SLEEP QUALITY	SCHEDULE CHANGE	MIGRAINE NOTES

PATTERNS TO REVIEW

Too little sleep, too much sleep, or irregular sleep:

Travel, shift changes, weekend changes, or busy-day letdown:

What showed up more than once:

What did not show a clear pattern:

SLEEP NOTES FOR APPOINTMENT

Sleep or schedule question I want to ask:

What I should keep tracking next:

Sleep and schedule notes are context for discussion. They do not prove what caused an attack.

FOOD, CAFFEINE & HYDRATION

Use this page without food fear. Food notes are observations, not proof or diet instructions.

Date range:

Attack days:

Caffeine pattern:

Hydration notes:

FOOD AND DRINK CONTEXT

DATE	MEALS DELAYED/SKIPPED?	CAFFEINE TIMING/CHANGE	ALCOHOL / HYDRATION NOTES	MIGRAINE NOTES

REVIEW WITHOUT BLAME

Food, caffeine, alcohol, or hydration pattern I want to ask about:

Cravings or appetite changes that may have been early migraine clues:

Things I expected to matter but did not clearly match attacks:

Questions for my healthcare provider:

FOOD NOTES FOR APPOINTMENT

What I want to discuss without making restrictive diet changes on my own:

What I should keep tracking next:

STRESS & SENSORY EXPOSURE

Track stress, letdown, and sensory load as context. Some exposure may be unavoidable.

Date range:

Attack days:

Most stressful day:

Most sensory-heavy day:

CONTEXT NOTES

- | | | |
|---|--|---|
| ☐ Acute stress | ☐ Ongoing stress | ☐ Letdown after stress |
| ☐ Conflict | ☐ Deadline pressure | ☐ Overstimulation |
| ☐ Bright light/glare | ☐ Screens/flicker | ☐ Strong smells |
| ☐ Loud sound | ☐ Crowded space | ☐ Unavoidable exposure |

WHAT HAPPENED AROUND ATTACKS?

Stress, emotional load, or letdown notes:

Light, screen, smell, sound, or crowded-space notes:

What showed up more than once:

What I want help managing or understanding:

STRESS AND SENSORY REVIEW

Situations that showed up more than once:

Situations that are hard to avoid but worth documenting:

Questions or support needs to discuss:

What I should keep tracking next:

WEATHER, ENVIRONMENT & TRAVEL

Record environmental context, including things you cannot control, so you can discuss patterns clearly.

Date range:

Attack days:

Location / travel:

Environment notes:

ENVIRONMENT CONTEXT

- | | | |
|---|---|--|
| ☐ Weather change | ☐ Pressure change | ☐ Storms |
| ☐ Heat | ☐ Humidity | ☐ Cold exposure |
| ☐ Smoke/air quality | ☐ Altitude | ☐ Travel |
| ☐ Indoor environment | ☐ Outdoor exposure | ☐ Other |

WEATHER AND TRAVEL NOTES

What was happening in the environment:

Travel, altitude, commute, or location changes:

Patterns I want to ask about:

Things I cannot control but want documented:

ENVIRONMENT REVIEW

Weather or environment patterns that showed up more than once:

Travel or location notes I want to compare later:

Questions for my provider:

What I should keep tracking next:

Environment notes can be useful even when no change is possible. Use them to support a healthcare conversation.

CYCLE & BODY CONTEXT NOTES

Use only what applies. Skip any section that is not relevant to your body or appointment.

Date range:

Attack days:

Relevant cycle/body notes:

Questions for provider:

POSSIBLE BODY CONTEXT

- ☐ Cycle timing
- ☐ Hormonal timing
- ☐ Perimenopause/menopause notes
- ☐ Illness
- ☐ Neck tension
- ☐ Posture strain
- ☐ Unusual exertion
- ☐ Recovery day
- ☐ Not applicable

NOTES TO REVIEW

Cycle, hormonal, or body timing notes:

Illness, neck tension, posture, exertion, or recovery notes:

Patterns that may matter:

Questions I want to ask:

BODY CONTEXT REVIEW

Body context that showed up more than once:

What may be part of migraine starting rather than a cause:

What is not applicable or not clear:

What I should keep tracking next:

MEDICATION, SUPPORT & RELIEF

Record what happened for discussion. Do not change medications or care decisions based on this workbook alone.

Date range:

Medication list updated:

Questions to ask:

Access/refill notes:

MEDICATION OR SUPPORT NOTES

DATE	MEDICATION/SUPPORT	TIME USED	RELIEF LEVEL	SIDE EFFECTS / BARRIERS

PROVIDER DISCUSSION NOTES

Questions about timing, frequency, side effects, refills, or access:

What helped, partly helped, did not help, or was hard to use:

If I am concerned about how often I use acute medication, I want to ask:

Non-medication supports I used:

RELIEF PATTERN REVIEW

What seemed to help or partly help more than once:

Questions about side effects, access, or timing:

PATTERN REVIEW & DISCUSSION

Use this page to summarize what you noticed and what you want help understanding.
